Your Sponsorship Makes a Difference

This year's conference will be a special one, focused on intimate conversations with industry thought leaders of opportunities and challenges in the broadly-defined industry. We will include a discussion of Paul Rubacha's landmark $30 million gift to Cornell to create a multi-college Department of Real Estate, and reflect on four decades of real estate education and alumni engagement. We will also provide an update on our efforts to make commercial real estate a more diverse and inclusive educational path.

We welcome your financial support to help CREC achieve its mission as we highlight the levels of support and acknowledgement available. We hold ourselves accountable to achieving results and are open to ideas from proactive sponsors to expand our impact.

WHY SPONSOR

We ask our members and conference attendees to consider tax-deductible contributions to CREC which, in addition to underwriting the cost of the conference, directly fund initiatives that support:

- Expanding opportunities in the real estate industry for women and people of color
- Real estate career exposure and guidance
- Industry relationship building and networking
- Scholarships, grants and subsidies
- Membership outreach to Cornell students and alumni in real estate

YOUR SPONSORSHIP AT WORK

Over the past two years we have touched thousands of industry professionals virtually, and we are excited to welcome hundreds back this fall. Your support of the conference and the following initiatives matters.

CREC Women; Diversity, Equity & Inclusion (CREC DEI); Career Circles and a newly established CREC Advisory Board have expanded to include leading professionals from a diverse range of real estate fields at various career levels. CREC is also pleased to support the recipients of selected sponsorship funds:

- Cornell Future Architect Award and Summer Scholars (in partnership with Cornell AAP): The CFAA award fund supports the participation of minority or disadvantaged high school students, or items affiliated with program operation.
- Philip Payton Society for Minority Professionals in Real Estate Case Competition: Designed to introduce minority undergraduate students to the real estate industry through a 3-part learning series and a capstone case.
- Real Estate Exchange (REEX) Summer Programs: CREC provides faculty which expose diverse students to top universities and career opportunities.

CREC has developed initiatives to promote inclusivity, expand career education and foster mentorships:

- We offered on-campus roundtables open to all undergraduate and graduate students. Panelists highlighted careers, skills needed to get them, and the importance of ESG, to students across varied backgrounds.
- Our coffee chat series was held for the second consecutive year, featuring female industry professionals.
- We continued our third successful cycle of Career Circles, an all-encompassing student and alumni group mentorship program, which attracted nearly three hundred participants on campus, in the US and abroad.
- CREC is growing our regional presence to include 15 chapters across the US, Europe and Asia. With support from CREC's Board of Directors, regional chapters have collaborated at meet-ups and events in Miami, London, Dallas, Chicago, Los Angeles and the Tri-state area.

CREC is also developing a History of Real Estate project to preserve and showcase the influences on and trajectory of Cornell's real estate curriculum as we look toward the future with the exciting launch of the Paul Rubacha Department of Real Estate at Cornell.
